New Year New Expectations New Life

As we begin 2012, what are some expectations that you have regarding God, his church, and your life?

- We could begin by asking: "What if...":
- ...this is the year your prayers are answered?
  - ...this is the year your family gets right with God?
  - ...this is the year your closest friend comes to Jesus?
  - ...this is the year you conquer your negative attitude and gossiping tongue?
  - ...this is the year God restores your health?
  - ...this is the year God restores your marriage?
  - ...this is the year of revival for the church?
  - ...this is the year you begin to read and study your Bible regularly?
  - ...this is the year you begin to pray regularly?
  - ...this is the year you begin to pay your tithes (10% of your income) or above sacrificially and God pours you out a blessing you cannot contain?
  - ...this is the year of personal witnessing and testimony?

It leads me to the next two words: "Why not..."

- ...make this the year of new beginnings for you?
  - ...make this a year of new beginnings for your loved ones and neighbors?
  - ...make this the year your prayers are answered?
  - ...make this the year of revival for the church and your life?
  - ...make this the year of deeper commitment to the Kingdom of God?
  - ...make this the greatest year of evangelism?
- How? Start by making a commitment to simply reading Luke 6 once per week. I have included the text on the back of this for your convenience. Let's let our faith remove all the limits and claim all God wants to give in 2012.
